Steel Launches Coal Pact Fight

Labor Law Violation Claimed

Charges Filed Against Lewis

WASHINGTON — (UP) — U. S. Steel corporation and 17 other steel and coal firms today filed unfair labor charges against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers for insisting on a union shop in the 1948 coal wage contract.

The charges were filed with Robert N. Denham, general counsel for the National Labor Relations board. They were the first step in the Taft-Hartley act procedure toward an injunction requiring Lewis and the union to withdraw the demand.

Informed sources said such an injunction, if issued, probably would be broad enough to require the miners to work in the steel companies' captive mines pending determination of the charges.

The charges were filed by John C. Gall in behalf of all of the nation's steel companies, under contract with Lewis.

They alleged that Lewis and the union are attempting to coerce them into signing an illegal contract. They said the proposed agreement would require them to discriminate against employes because of membership or non-membership in a labor organization in violation of the Taft-Hartley act.

ENDANGERS STEELMAKING

The captive mine operators produce 60,000,000 tons of high-grade coking coal annually. A strike would cut off their supply and, government officials said, force a sharp curtailment of steelmaking in a week or 10 days.

The decision to fight Lewis was said to have come after the collapse of conferences in New York between Lewis and Harry M. Moses, chief negotiator of U. S. Steel and nine big competitors.

Moses refused last Friday to sign the new wage agreement with Lewis because of the union shop provision. He said he would go along only if the union shop was made conditional on an election among UMW members under the Taft-Hartley law. But Lewis cannot qualify for the poll because of his refusal to sign non-communist affidavits.

The law makes it an unfair labor practice for a union to attempt to coerce an employer into signing an agreement that discriminates against workers because of membership or non-membership in a labor union.

Queries Eisenhower

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said today in a copyrighted story from Washington that the White House has taken steps to get Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to issue a public statement this weekend "flatly and irrevocably removing himself as a possible Democratic presidential nominee."

Year-Long Vacation Tires Her

CHICAGO—(AP)—Miss Nelli Mason, a stenographer for a loop advertising firm, returned to work yesterday after a year's vacation with full pay, but she didn't put in a full day at the office.

Her employer H. Glenn Miller, told her two hours before quitting time she could go home—"You've had a hard day after a year of taking it easy."

Miss Mason was the first employe of Miller's firm to receive the year's vacation he promised to each worker after six years employment. The only stipulation is the employe must spend the time "constructively," and must write a letter to the other employes each week. Miller started the sabbatical leave as part of good employer-employe relations.

Two Boards To Serve City, County

Judge Recommends Draft Unit Names

Mansfield and Richland county will have two draft boards when the nation's new defense force swings into action, Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch announced today.

Judge Kalbfliesch said he is expecting appointment of the board members to be made soon in Columbus. Each board is to have not less than three members. Judge Kalbfleisch said he expected 10 men to be named here.

One board will serve Mansfield; the other the county area. The county had three boards during World War II.

A list of 15 names, five of them members of Mansfield draft boards during the second World war, was submitted to Adj. Gen. Chester Goble by the judge several days ago. Judge Kalbfleisch said he compiled the list after asking all former board members if they would be willing to serve on the new boards. Only five of them agreed, he added.

Induction of men, 19 through 25, into the armed forces is expected to start Sept. 24—90 days after the president signed the bill on June 24.

There will be no drawing of numbers from a goldfish bowl in Washington. Instead of the lottery system of the war years, the order of induction will be decided by age.

Approximately 4,000 local draft boards will be set up. There were 6,442 boards during the wartime draft. All local boards, as before, will be appointed by the governors of the respective states.

It is expected that the army will call between 200,000 and 225,000 inductees during the first 12 months of the draft.

Mystery Girl Speculates In Big Way

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A congressional committee disclosed today that it is conducting an intensive inquiry into the 10-million-dollar commodity market operations of a $63.50-a-week navy department "mystery girl."

Rep. Andersen (R-Minn), chairman of a special house committee investigating food market gambling by government employes, said he is attempting to determine whether the woman speculator, described as a navy department clerk, had access to "inside information."

Andersen said the Navy's 'mystery girl" is between 35 and 40, has "perfect manners," and told committee investigators that she had been trading in commodities for "a number of years."

He added that she denied having used inside information in her commodity deals, which totaled $10,311,990, in the two year period which ended Dec. 31, 1947, and yielded "substantial profits."

Yugoslavs Appeal To Red Boss

Request Stalin To Blot 'Lies'

(By Associated Press)

Yugoslav communists urged Stalin today to blot out what they called the absurd "lies and slander" of the cominform against Premier Marshal Tito and the ruling party of his Balkan nation.

But Russia was busy building back fires against Tito. The comin form—the 9-nation communist information bureau—moved from Belgrade to Bucharest.

Communists in Russia, Albania, Bulgaria, Romania, Greece, Britain, Hungary, Austria and the United States all rallied around the cominform and its Kremlin rulers.

Yugoslavia stood as firm as ever behind Tito. His Balkan neighbors for the moment didn't talk too big, because Tito has the largest army afoot in that region which has spawned so many wars.

PRESTIGE SHAKEN

The Kremlin, its prestige shaken by the Tito case, moved slowly. The central committee of the Soviet Union's Communist party approved, as expected, the cominform attack on Tito and the Yugoslav party. The cominform accused the Yugoslav government leaders of a hateful policy toward Russia, flirting with the west and leaving the Marx-Lenin line.

It appeared unlikely that Stalin or the Russian communists would be swayed by such an expression as this from a mass meeting of 15,000 Yugoslav communists:

"Take off these false accusations that were slung at the whole country, party and central committee. Our love toward you and the whole Soviet Union and everything you did for humanity is unlimited, as well as our belief that you will do everything in your power that the truth will be brought out in a very short time."

The Yoguslav communists parlayed their appeal to Stalin with another telegram expressing faith in Tito and the Yugoslav party.

Italy Swept By Strikes

ROME—(U.P.)—From the Alps to Sicily, an estimated 3,000,000 Italian workers left their jobs at noon today in a half-day strike directed against the anti-communist government of Premier Alcide de Gasperi.

There was no violence in the first hours of the walkout, which was led by industrial workers who closed every plant and factory, but special police squads were alerted in all the large cities of the nation for possible trouble tonight, when political rallies were planned.

Thousands of store employes, local transportation union workers, and other labor groups went out in sympathy with the industrial workers in the first of a series of leftist-directed demonstrations against the government.

The labor agitation is designed to halt firings for economic reasons, stop plant shutdowns, and win general wage increases and doubled family allowances.

Industrialists said the half-day strike would deal a severe blow to production. The unions permitted skeleton forces of workers to tend blast furnaces and other vital installations, however.

Ruling Voids Car 'Option'

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— A common pleas judge has ruled here that an automobile agency cannot enforce an agreement for a first option on buying cars which it has sold earlier to customers.

Judge David G. Jenkins returned the ruling against the James A. Henderson company. He ruled that once a title has changed hands "a seller of ordinary property canot restrict its future use."

Attorneys for Henderson filed the suit which, they said, was designed to fight the automobile black market and keep down used car prices. Henderson testified he wanted to prevent the resale of new cars at "fantastic prices."

LOT SALESMAN—Auctioneer C. O. Robinson waves his straw hat as he calls for a bid on one of the 254 properties offered at a sheriff's sale yesterday in the courthouse. A total of 226 of the lots were sold for taxes, penalties and court costs, bringing $17,557

Bidders Show Keen Interest

Sheriff Sells 226 Lots For $17,557

Mansfield bidders, eager for building lots, offered $17,557 yesterday for 226 properties sold at sheriff's auction at the courthouse.

The total sale price nearly doubled the amount of delinquent taxes due on the properties. The sheriff offered 254 lots, but a few failed to sell because the taxes on them were so high, Deputy Sheriff P. S. Carroll said.

The total tax bill against the properties was $9,760. The lots were ordered sold for taxes.

Deputy Sheriff Carroll said the highest price paid for a lot was $735, for lot 7775 on Penn avenue, purchased by Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Leppert.

Lowest sale price was $40 for lot 179, Brookline, bought by T. J. Hanley.

As many as 350 persons jammed the second floor corridor of the courthouse during the peak of the sale. Auctioneer C. O. Robinson handled the sale, assisted by Clerk Paul W. Baumberger and Deputy Carroll.

BUYS 68 LOTS

Two allotments were bought up on single bids. Attorney C. H. Henkel was the successful bidder for 68 lots in Lincoln Heights Allotment 3, on his bid of $3,225.

Attorney J. H. Gongwer purchased 69 lots in New Trenton allotment, on a bid of $3,450.

Deputy Carroll said that purchasers were required to make a deposit of 10 per cent of the sale price, or a minimum of $25. Receipts in excess of taxes and court costs go to the former owners.

After the sales are confirmed in common pleas court, where the sale was ordered, the remainder of the sale price will be collected and the deeds turned over to the purchasers, Carroll said.

Catholics Report Membership Gain

NEW YORK —(UP)— Catholics in the United States now number 26,075,697, an increase of 807,524 over last year, the official Catholic director for 1948 reported today.

The directory said that the 23 archdioceses of the church in this country reported increases of 316,182, while gains in the 101 dioceses amounted to 491,342.

Rail Truce Hopes Grow

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A high federal official said today that "chances are pretty good" for settlement of the 18-month-old railroad wage dispute.

This official who asked not to be identified, said it was "highly likely" that the railroad industry and the three unions involved would narrow their differences considerably today at a special negotiating session at the White House.

He made the statement as the three unions—representing 150,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen—received new orders from Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough not to call a strike while the government operates the railroads.

Acting on a request of the justice department, Goldsborough made permanent the no-strike order he issued against the unions two months ago, when President Truman seized the railroads in the face of a threatened strike on May 11.

North Grants Pay Increase

GALION—The North Electric Manufacturing Company today announced a wage increase of 10-percent for all its hourly rate employes effective July 16.

All hourly employes in the Kenton, Galion and Mt. Gilead plants will be affected

Company officials also announced the granting of full-time pay for six legal holidays throughout the year. Officers here said the holiday pay will start with Independence Day.

10,000 Plan For Holiday

Railroads, Airlines See Heavy Traffic

Ten thousand Mansfield motorists are expected to take to the highways over the Fourth of July holiday, while thousands will be added to the normal passenger lists of railroads, buses and airlines leading out of the city.

A check today with officials of automobile, railroad, airline and bus companies disclosed that increased traffic began yesterday afternoon and is expected to reach a peak tomorrow when a three-day holiday for several of the city's industrial concerns gets under way.

A normal week end for TWA airlines out of the city is nine or ten reservations Today there were 19; 14 for Saturday and 24 for Monday. Sunday will be light, officials said.

The Greyhound Bus company expects to handle four times the normal amount of traffic. Travel began to pick up yesterday. H. A. Palm, ticket agent, said he expected the bulk of the peak to be reached this afternoon and evening.

Railroads look for an increase of about 25 per cent over normal week ends and about ten per cent over last year's Fourth of July pasesnger trade.

$42,000 Left To Wesleyan

BUCYRUS — (INS) — The will of Miss Josephine Miller, on file today in Crawford county probate court, leaves $42,000 to set up the Josephine Miller scholarship for students — preferably male — at Ohio Wesleyan university.

After certain other bequests, the remainder of the estate also goes to Ohio Wesleyan.

Miss Miller left $8,000 to pay for a two-room addition to the Bucyrus City hospital.

COLUMBUS —(INS)—Threats of mass resignations in the Columbus police and fire departments appeared to slacken today as the insurgents agreed to negotiate their wage demands with the city council.

Dems Seek Backing Of Labor

(By United Press)

The Democratic National committee, with an eye on the powerful labor vote, has invited four top-ranking union leaders to address the party's Philadelphia convention, it was revealed today.

Invitations have been sent to William Green and Philip Murray, presidents of the AFL and CIO respectively; Dan Tobin, head of the AFL Teamsters' Union, the nation's largest, and A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Green and Tobin called at the White House within the past week. But both were coy about whether they intend to support President Truman in November. Tobin, a delegate to the Democratic convention in 1940 and 1944, refused a seat this year.

The speaking invitations were regarded as a Democratic bid for the support of labor's multi-million-dollar political war chest and its ward-and-precinct organizations to "get out the vote."

FIGHT LABOR LAW

Intent on repealing the Taft-Hartley law and defeating its congressional supporters, labor unions are campaigning as never before. The AFL through its new educational and political league hopes to influence some 30,000,000 votes. The CIO Political Action committee has set itself a goal of getting out a vote of 60,000,000—12,000,000 more than in 1944.

Prospects were mounting that the convention will not be entirely a one-sided cheering match for President Truman in his bid for nomination.

"Draft Eisenhower" boosters announced they will open headquarters in Philadelphia next week. Jacob M. Arvey, Chicago Democratic leader, said a meeting of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supporters will be held there before the convention opens on July 12. Arvey reportedly has been conferring with political leaders from coast to coast in an effort to swing state delegations behind the general.

Russia Hurt By Blockade

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Russia's starvation blockade of Berlin became a two-edged sword today with the Soviets feeling its effects more than the western powers against whom it was directed.

The combined air might of the United States and Britain raised the greatest peacetime air operation of history to a level such that more food was being flown in each day than the 2,500 persons in the western sectors of the German capital consume.

Simultaneously, signs appeared that the blockade weapon had turned back upon the Russians, causing them shortage of flour, penicillin, insulin and streptomycin.

The apparent Soviet shortages, revealed by indirect efforts of Russia to barter with the western powers, gave weight to persistent reports that the Soviet authorities soon will ease or end the surface blockade.

In near perfect weather, American and British transport planes —mostly American C-54s, shuttled continuously from the western zones of Germany over the Soviet zone to Berlin.

They were accomplishing a feat which even high U S. officers had doubted could be accomplished as they were bringing in supplies faster than the western sectors of the city used them up.

Refund Asked In Auto Case

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A suit to recapture a refund made by ex-Mansfielder John W. Singleton, jailed operator of a former used car "Empire," has been filed in federal court here.

The test suit, which was barred from bankruptcy court, asked that Mrs Elizabeth B. Petrill of suburban Lakewood be required to surrender $2,106 which Singleton refunded to her when he was unable to deliver an ordered auto.

Morris R. Blane, trustee in bankruptcy for the Singleton assets, said that sum should be turned over to help meet a $300,000 judgment filed against Singleton by creditors, who said they had given him money in advance for cars and received no deliveries.

Cleveland Gardener Confesses

Suspect Linked To Other Crimes

CLEVELAND—A 24-year-old gardener confessed early today to the April 24 slaying of Mrs. Ilda Morehouse Koogle, 60-year-old former Plymouth woman.

Police Chief Horace S. Weaver of East Cleveland reported that James Buchanan admitted in a signed statement that he beat Mrs. Koogle to death while attempting to grab her purse.

The aged victim, a native of Perry, O., who worked for several years before her marriage as a trimmer at the Hanick Millinery store in Plymouth, was found beaten to death near her home.

Chief Weaver said Buchanan, who already has been linked with several brutal hammer attacks on women in the Cleveland area, signed the statement after police escorted him to the Koogle home. The confessed slayer broke down after several hours of questioning, Weaver said.

FOUND IN ROSE ARBOR

Police quoted Weaver as saying he had left his home the evening of April 24 with the intention of "stealing someone's purse," and assaulted Mrs. Koogle when he saw her standing near her residence.

Buchanan denied, however, any knowledge of how the woman's battered body was dragged to the rose arbor, where it was found, police said.

The suspect in his signed statement said he killed Mrs. Koogle in the driveway and left her there.

Chief Weaver said officers found a fountain pen and a wrist watch, believed to have belonged to Mrs. Koogle, in Buchanan's home during a search last night.

ADMITS OTHER CRIMES

Chief Weaver said Buchanan also confessed to a number of other robberies in East Cleveland. Several women, who had suffered various degrees of beatings in recent purse snatchings, identified Buchanan as the slugger in a police lineup yesterday.

Police reported the arrest followed a tip given by a union business agent, Earl S. Bowen, 52, who said he pursued Buchanan after being robbed.

The police chief said that he would file first degree murder charges against Buchanan in the death of Mrs. Koogle.

Prices Aim At New Peak

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — A high government official predicted today that prices will soar to new records in the next few months.

He said the latest report but the bureau of labor statistics shows clearly that the rise in prices is continuing steadily.

The bureau reported that its index of wholesale prices for 900 commodities rose 0.8 per cent last week to 166.7 per cent of the 1926 average. It said this was a new postwar peak and "only 0.3 per cent below the May, 1920, high point."

No official would predict for the record whether the figure for this week would pass the all-time high of 1920. But privately they thought it would.

The agriculture department has already predicted higher meat prices for the fall. Other government economists believe the cost of living, already at an all-time peak, will go even higher this year.

One said the "third round" wage increases just being put into effect will be followed by another round of price boosts. And that, he said, is certain to push up living costs still more.

Grand Jury Urges Liquor Inquiry

BUCYRUS —(U.P.)— A Crawford county grand jury today recommended further investigation into alleged irregularities by certain state liquor inspectors during inspections of premises of permit holders.

The jury received testimony from 20 witnesses during a two-day session. Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon also presented information to the jury.

Promises Check of Board and Licenses

Experienced Prober Assigned To FCC

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Frank T. Bow, counsel for the special House committee created to investigate the Federal Communications commission, steps over to his new job from a previous House committee assignment.

Bow, 47, has served since May, 1947, as general counsel for the subcommittee on publicity and propaganda, headed by Forest A. Harness (R-Ind.) In that job he directed surveys of spending by federal agencies.

His new work will center chiefly on investigation of the granting of licenses by the commission to radio station owners or operators who are alleged to be communists or communist sympathizers.

Appointed to the post yesterday, Bow told a reporter today he will start immediately to organize a staff. He plans to check commission personnel, including directors; procedure on granting licenses, some of the persons to whom licenses were granted and the guides set up by the commission on programming of individual stations.

Bow said he intends to confer with Harness in about 10 days to discuss public hearings which will follow his preliminary investigation.

Bow is a native of Canton, where he is a member of the law firm of Bow, Ake and Thomas. He was assistant attorney general of Ohio from 1929 to 1933, vice-president of the Ohio Bar association from 1940 to 1947 and is now a member of the state bar's executive committee.

For a short time in 1945 he served in the South Pacific as a war correspondent for the Brush-Moore newspapers and the Ohio Broadcasting company.

He is a member of the Ohio Republican state committee.

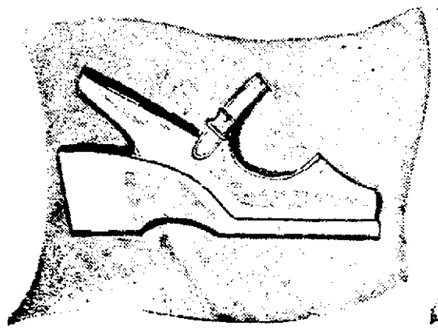

Bow was the author of the plan of reorganization of state banks in Ohio in the early 30's.

Cleveland Jolted by Tigers, Returns Home

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

THE TYGER club, Senior high's athletic boosting group, will have that "new look" when the next grid campaign begins. . . . Not that the powers behind the organization are talking. . . . They have been mighty close-mouthed when approached about plans for the 1948-49 season. . . . But now and then the board members drop a bit of a hint about things to come and some choice rumors have started flying. . . . So we feel a bit free to hop out on a limb and predict a few things. . . . Money has always retarded the club's activities so the raising of the "green stuff" naturally will be of prime importance. . . . We haven't been able to find a leak of information on how the money will be gathered, but a big drive is a cinch. . . . Last year, the club had to drop its junior high championship grid banquet and grade school trophies among other things and these should be back. . . . Downtown athletic displays will make their appearances and more interesting public meetings will be spotlighted. . . . Then to keep the interest going past presidents of the club will be retained on the board of directors. . . . Present by-laws call for a member to serve a two-year term.

★

OF COURSE, a president will be needed to run the thing. . . . A logical choice is a prominent ex-high school coach who is definitely interested in recreation. . . . We feel we could name the man but don't want to "spoil" the news-break the Tyger club has planned for some time next week. . . . This man is a former all-Ohio grid guard at Wittenberg and a Toledo high school athletic director. . . . Also on the sure side will be a big advisory committee and plenty of new ideas to make Senior High sports and the band better known not only in this area but in Ohio and the nation as well. . . . We have done a bit of guessing perhaps but the rumor factory has been going overtime and we've delved some so we can safely say the Tyger club will be better than ever.

★

MANSFIELDERS have always been able to point with pride to the fact that their high school fan club is not narrow-minded in its sponsorship. . . . Most clubs of the type get on the football bandwagon and spend a good share of the time boosting the grid sport, possibly the one athletic endeavor that needs the least amount of pushing to get crowd interest. . . . The Mansfield outfit extends into all phases of sports and gets its biggest push behind the Mansfield Relays, the country's No. 1 high school sport event.

Cooper Bothered By One Bad Leg

NEW YORK —(INS)— The New York Giants may learn today whether their star catcher, Walker Cooper, will be able to play regularly with them for the remainder of the 1948 season.

The Giants' captain and standout slugger, who recently had bone cartilage removed from his leg, has complained that his leg hurts worse than ever, and adds: "I can't go on much longer."

Cooper will visit doctors at the New York Medical Center today for an official diagnosis and prescription for his ailing leg.

Big Eighth Disastrous For Tribe

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Cleveland's Indians open a four-game series tonight in St. Louis and the odds are the Tribe will be in first place when July 4th rolls around a couple of days hence.

The Indians were rudely jolted at Detroit yesterday after they came from behind to take the lead and then see it blown sky-high in a five-run, eighth-inning uprising to go down to defeat, 9-5.

Bob Muncrief started for Cleveland and his string of 27 scoreless innings was snapped in the second frame when Pat Mullin slapped his 11th home run of the season.

YIELDS TO GROMEK

Muncrief gave up three more runs in the fifth before yielding to Steve Gromek. The Tigers, held hitless the day before, collected 13 hits in the fray.

Freddie Hutchinson, Tiger starter, held the Tribe well in check and it appeared the four runs would be more than enough. In the seventh inning, however, Pinch-hitter Eddie Robinson drove home Joe Gordon, who had walked, and Ken Keltner, who had singled.

In the eighth, Manager Lou Boudreau singled and moved to second on an infield out. Wally Judnich slashed a hit to right field, scoring Boudreau. Gordon then blasted his 12th four-bagger of the year, scoring Judnich ahead of him and putting the Tribe in front.

Sam Zoldak, new Tribesman acquired from the hospitable St. Louis Browns, held the Tigers in check in the seventh but the roof fell in on him in the eighth.

GET FIVE ON FOUR

Before the inning was over, five runs were in on four hits and two walks.

Russ Christopher took over after George Kell had singled and scored on Dick Wakefield's long double. The lanky relief hurler gave up the remaining runs with Pitcher Hal Newhouser's mighty triple with two on being the crushing climax.

Newhouser replaced Hutchinson in the eighth and gained credit for the win. Zoldak was charged with the loss.

Gorman-Rupp Does Battle With Tough Ashland Tribe

The Mansfield Gorman-Rupp softball team will go after its ninth straight North Central Ohio league victory tonight against its most heated rivals, the Ashland Indians.

Ashland, pre-season league favorites, will be at the G-R field for an 8:30 game which will be the last home contest of the first half of the season. A tie game at Willard has yet to be played off.

Gorman-Rupp has clinched the first half title, having accomplished that feat in Monday's victory over Mt. Vernon Stone's Grill.

Ashland and Gorman-Rupp have split even in two games, the Indians having defeated Gorman-Rupp, 4-1, in a pre-season exhibition game here. In league play, Gorman-Rupp won, 4-2.

Bobby Regula will be the likely Gorman-Rupp hurler tonight although Manager Nick Weber may elect to divide the duties between him and his brother, Stretch.

Moose Battles VFW In Loop's Top Contest

Moose lodge will have an opportunity to get back into the Class A club league softball race tonight when it battles American Veterans Committee at North Lake park.

The AVC team is tied with Veterans of Foreign Wars for first place with five wins in six games. VFW knocked Moose out of a tie for the top rung last week. Moose slipped past AVC in the initial round, 5 to 4.

American Legion Post 16 will test VFW at Liberty park and Amvets goes against Sons of Herman at Prospect park. In the first round, VFW won over Legion, 6 to 1 and the Hermans swamped the Amvets, 11 to 8.

The games will begin at 6 p. m.

Seven Crews Race

PRINCETON, N. J. — (INS) — Seven crack eight-oared shells will race in the Olympic rowing trials semi-finals this evening for the chance to enter Saturday's three-boat finals.

Bums Recall Two Players

NEW YORK — (INS) — Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, made further changes in his team's roster today and assured the club's fans that the Dodgers were still trying to win the National league pennant this year.

"These emergency measures are being taken to throw the full resources of the Brooklyn organization into the fight for 1948," said Rickey.

Two players were added to the roster of the sixth-place Dodgers. They were Negro catcher Roy Campanella, recalled from St. Paul of the American association where he was batting .309 and had hit 12 home runs, and left-handed hitting outfielder George Shuba, purchased from Mobile of the Southern association where he had a batting mark of .389.

Komito's Softball Team Raps Legion

Komito's Clothes made it three in a row in the Class A Independent softball league last night by defeating American Legion Post 72, 6 to 0, under the lights at Gorman-Rupp field.

With Kenny Windsor turning in a superlative mound effort, Komito's hopped into an early lead and won as it pleased before 300 fans. Windsor permitted only two hits while striking out 13.

The game was a playoff of an early season tie.

Bob Nikolaus, Komito's centerfielder, clouted a home run. The winners scored in each of the first four innings.

Old Cy Young to Pitch Tonight

By JOHN BARRINGTON

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Scrambled scribblings from the Sports Samovar . . .

Denton True (Cy) Young, who got there fastest with the mostest so far as baseball players are concerned, is going to take a turn on the mound at Toledo's Swayne field tonight. . . . At 81 Cy says he can still show the youngsters a trick or two and has agreed to a "demonstration" preceding the Toledo-Milwaukee American association contest.

Cy only pitched more years, hurled more games and won more than anyone else in major league history. . . . Beginning in 1890 he pitched 906 games and won 511 over a 22-year period. . . . When he quit, it wasn't because his staunch right arm had gone lame on him. . . . The Peoli (O.) gentleman farmer explains he just became "too portly." . . . They all started to bunt on me," says Cy ruefully.

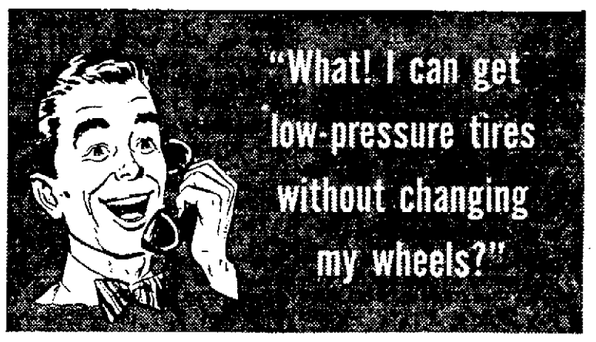

Incidentally, Cy lost the last game he pitched for the Boston Braves on Sept. 25, 1911. . . . The score was 1-to-0, and he was beaten by Grover Cleveland Alexander, then a comparative youngster. . . . Last year they gave Cy a big party at Newcomerstown to celebrate his 80th birthday. . . . This spring, however, festivities were passed up at his own request. . . . He opined the 1947 affair was enough for awhile.

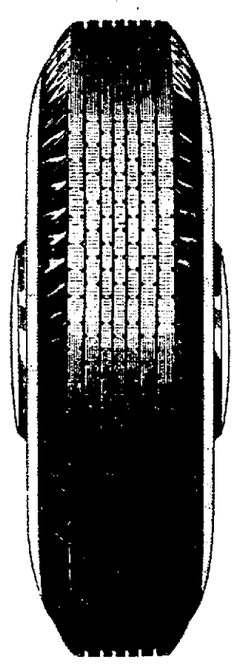

That small college athletic league which plans to operate in northwestern Ohio is coming nearer and nearer reality. . . . At last reports, Ashland, Bluffton, Cedarville, Defiance and Rio Grande were definitely set for membership. . . . Organizers of the circuit want to make it an eight team wheel.

Findlay, Ohio Northern and Wilmington also are reportedly interested in the league. . . . Participation by Ohio Northern and Wilmington would mean further depletion of Ohio conference ranks. . . . Ashland already has resigned from the conference.

★

Shelby Linville, all-Ohio high school cage star, is going to enroll at Western Kentucky. . . . That happens to be the alma mater of his Middletown high school coach of the past two seasons, Paul Walker. . . . Incidentally, Ohio State claims to have 30 of 33 outstanding schoolboy gridders it set its sights upon coming Columbus-ward. . . . Big improvement over last year if some of them aren't lost en route.

Sain Wins 10th as Boston Braves Increase Lead

Yankees Spill Sox; A's Edge Senators

By RALPH RODEN, AP Sports Writer

Johnny Sain, Boston Braves righthander, has reached the half way mark in his bid to become the first National league pitcher since Mort Cooper to win 20 games three years in a row.

Sain, a native of Belleville, Ark., pitched the league leading Braves to a 4-1 victory over the New York Giants yesterday for his 10th victory. He's the first senior circuit flinger to win 10 this season and now has a 10-5 record.

The soft-spoken 29-year-old hurler has won seven of his last eight starts and appears a cinch to reach the coveted 20.

The Boston ace held the Giants to four singles yesterday. Two of them helped produce the Giants' lone run in the opening inning.

The Braves tied the count in the second on Bob Elliott's sixth home run and won it in the seventh when Tommy Holmes belted a three-run double.

CUBS CUT CARDS

The victory enabled the Braves to increase their lead over the runner-up Cardinals to two and a half games. The Cards dropped a 4-3 decision to the Cubs in Chicago.

Andy Pafko drove in all of Chicago's runs, doubling home a marker in the first and blasting a three run homer in the seventh.

The third place Pittsburgh Pirates knocked off the Reds, 5-2 in Cincinnati and jumped within a half game of St. Louis.

The Philadelphia Phillies pulled within one percentage point of the fourth place Giants by beating the Dodgers, 4-2, in Brooklyn behind Schoolboy Rowe.

Rowe limited the Dodgers, who now have lost five straight games, to eight hits.

In the American league, the Philadelphia Athletics closed in on the league-leading Cleveland Indians by taking a 3-2 night game from the Washington Senators while the Indians were beaten 9-5 by the Tigers in Detroit. Philadelphia now trails by half a game.

ALL IN NINTH

The A's scored all of their runs in the last of the ninth with Ferris Fain knocking in two with a double and Elmer Valo singling home Fain with the winning run.

The third place New York Yankees crept within a game of the Indians with a 10-7 triumph over the Boston Red Sox in the Yankee stadium. A seven run first inning rally against Mickey Harris enabled the Yanks to win. Red Sox slugger Ted Williams went hitless to end his consecutive game hitting streak at 16.

In a night game at St. Louis, the Browns scored three runs in the eighth inning to snap a 5-5 tie and went on to beat the Chicago White Sox, 8-5.

Two Contests Scheduled In Major League

Two contests are on the Hot Stove Major league baseball schedule today at 6 p. m.

Zitzer's and Knights of Columbus meet at Ontario, while Sons of Herman and Yuncker Sports battle at Liberty park. Ohio Sport Center is idle.

Tied for first place are Zitzer's and Sport Center while the Herman Colts will be playing their first game.

Odd Fellows and Eagles won games yesterday afternoon in the Junior league. The IOOF team swamped Marine Corps league, 20 to 2. Warner had two doubles and two singles and Wilson three doubles for the winners. Howell had two doubles and a single as FOE nipped Moose lodge, 10 to 8.

In the Elementary loop, Bowman defeated West Fifth, 10 to 0; Newman won over Woodland, 23 to 2 and Prospect beat Carpenter, 10 to 3. Larry Zartman, Prospect, won his fifth straight game with a two-hit effort while striking out 12 and walking one.

Jefferies pitched a one-hitter for Bowman and Catcher Conrad had single, double and home run for Newman.

Cotton Leads British Open

MUIRFIELD, Scotland—(U.P.)—Hopes of an American victory were all but blasted off the course today as England's Henry Cotton tightened his lead on the British open golf tournament with a 212 at the end of the third round.

Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., fired a 73 to lead the Yanks with a 219 for the three rounds, but Cotton, despite poor putting which gave him a 75 in the morning round, was two strokes ahead of second place Alf Padgham and seven in front of Bulla.

A stroke behind Bulla after the morning round was Arthur Clark of Huntington, W. Va.

"100,000 to 150,000 miles between overhauls for each unit, since using V.E.P. Oil," reports Mark West, operator of the Mark West Fruits and Vegetables refrigerator trucks, Terre Haute, Ind. His White trucks have operated between Chicago and Miami on V.E.P. for approximately 3 years, without a bearing failure.

*Scientific tests, plus millions of miles of road travel, prove that V.E.P. makes motors last 50% longer than they would with ordinary oil.

SAVE as the big fleets do

Make your motor last 50% longer* —the way so many taxi, car rental and industrial fleets are doing. Change to Marathon V. E. P. Oil. Different. Patented. Puts 50% more miles between costly overhauls. Saves gasoline, too.

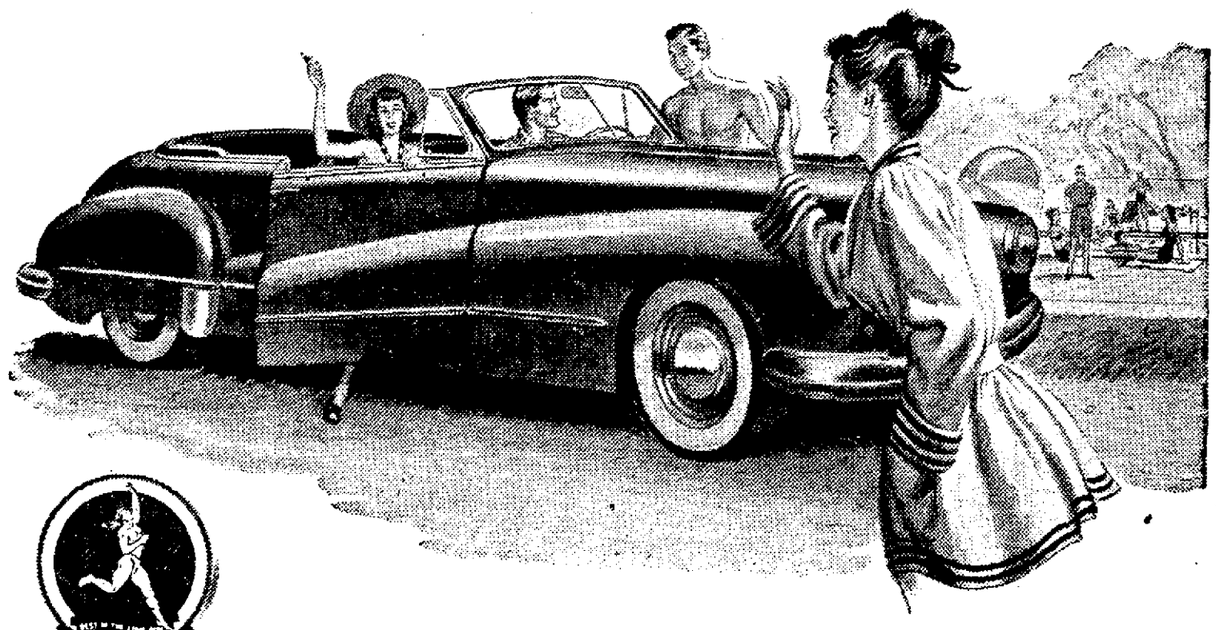

Proved for 11 years, V. E. P. Oil gives you these important "Extras"...

1 "Magnetic-like" film prevents damaging "dry" starts. Doesn't scatter at high temperatures. Protects bearings against corrosion.

2 Continuous cleaning action keeps valves and rings free, oil holes and lines open. Conserves power. Saves gasoline.

3 More than 3 times the film strength of ordinary oil to protect against heat, pressure, shock.

Lump-Sum Applications Due Aug. 9

Aug. 9 is the deadline for filing applications for lump-sum payments to survivors of insured workers who died outside the United States, according to Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Mansfield office of the Social Security Administration. The death of such workers must have occurred between Dec. 6, 1941, and Aug. 10, 1946.

Normally such payments must be claimed within two years after the date of death. However, survivors of military personnel, of civilians who worked on Pacific bases or who died in Japanese prison camps, and of those who died in friendly or neutral countries can still file claims.

Blonston said that such claims which have previously been disallowed because of the two-year filing limitation may be reopened by contacting the nearest Social Security office.

Cincinnatian Heads Group

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Hudson Biery of Cincinnati yesterday was elected chairman of the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Compact commission.

Cincinnati was chosen as the headquarters. The organization came into being Wednesday when governors of seven states and the representative of another signed an agreement to work together to end stream pollution.

Joseph L. Quinn of Terre Haute, Ind., was selected as vice-chairman and F. H. Waring of Columbus as secretary.

An executive committee also was appointed, with representatives from each state.

The commission will make a survey of the territory included in the Ohio watershed district, will study various pollution problems and make a report for the prevention or reduction of that pollution, it was stated.

The term "Siamese twins" was first applied to Chang and Eng, joined twins born in 1811 at Meklong, Siam.

Nearby Cities Plan Independence Day Fireworks Displays

Mansfield's Observance To Be Quiet

Mt. Gilead Celebrates County Centennial

There'll be fireworks available for Independence Day celebrators Monday night.

Although no community observance of the Fourth of July is planned in Mansfield, at least five neighboring cities have arranged celebrations which will be climaxed by fireworks spectacles Monday night.

Ashland, Crestline, Galion, Mt. Gilead and Perrysville all are bidding for holiday visitors.

In Mansfield itself, the American Veterans committee is sponsoring a carnival at the Blue Goose showgrounds that will include as a feature of its opening Monday night what the AVC enthusiasts term "the greatest display of fireworks ever presented in Richland county. The carnival will continue until July 10.

Mansfield families who take to the road will be offered a wide variety of entertainment.

CONTESTS OFFERED

In Ashland, at Brookside park, the holiday events will start with an opening salute of bombs and releasing of gas-fired balloons at 1 p. m. Monday by the Veterans of Foreign Wars prior to a concert by the American Legion band. Fishing, casting, tennis tournaments, baseball games and contests will head the afternoon programs, to be followed in the evening with a big fireworks display at 9:30 p. m.

A three-day centennial celebration of Morrow county opens tomorrow in Mt. Gilead. It will feature homecomings, special rides, attractions, and airplane and antique exhibits Saturday through Monday night.

Sunday at 1 p. m. a horse show presented by the Mt. Gilead Saddle club will head the afternoon activities. This will be followed by the crowning of the Queen of Morrow county at 8 p. m. preceding the centennial celebration pageant on a 200-foot stage in front of the fairgrounds' grandstand.

Monday has been designated as "Governor's day" at the centennial.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert will be the honored guest and speak at the ceremonies.

TWO-DAY FESTIVAL

Crestline's community two-day festival will be headed by a carnival of fun, contests and baseball games Monday afternoon and a mammoth display of fireworks on Monday evening climaxing what promises to be the greatest celebration in Crestline history.

A gigantic display of fireworks by the Scarbrough post American Legion in Galion at Heise park, Monday evening, will follow two afternoon tournament games by the Legion baseball teams.

In Perrysville fireworks displays will lead the Independence Day celebrations sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the Perrysville school house Monday night.

Romine Succeeds Goshorn As Postmaster at Galion

GALION—Galion has a new acting postmaster, J. Ben Romine, today.

Romine, who was appointed by President Truman June 7, took over the position yesterday. He succeeds W. V. Goshorn, who completed 21 years as Galion postmaster before retiring Wednesday.

Senate confirmation is necessary before Romine is named postmaster

Goshorn, publisher of the Galion Enquirer, announced that he plans to continue his work in that capacity. His tenure of service has been longer than anyone else in the city.

The retiring postmaster was appointed by President Woodrow Wilson on June 7, 1915 to succeed George W Nickels and served until March 27, 1924 when relieved by F E Cook His second appointment came in July 1, 1936

It was under Goshorn in 1921 that Galion became a first class post office. Receipts for the past year, which ended June 30, nearly equalled the peak of $96,211.74 in 1927.

Post office inspectors, R. C. Alexander of Marion and V. F. Sands, of Columbus were present when the informal change in office took place Wednesday night.

Stock Market Holds Steady; Several Old Favorites Lead

NEW YORK—(AP)—Some old favorites stepped well in front of a steady stock market today.

Most price changes were fractional either way. Nickel Plate railroad, though, jumped 3 on its first sale and Richfield Oil gained more than point.

Only moderate activity developed.

Steel shares improved, possibly in response to overnight news that President Truman had decided to try out a voluntary steel allocation program, rather than allocation by government order. Fractional improvement was noted in U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, and Republic Steel.

Other higher included Packard, Studebaker, Air Reduction, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific.

One Slain, 3 Battered

TULSA, Okla.—(AP)— A 42-year-old woman was found cruelly beaten to death in her apartment today only a few hours after another woman and two teen-age girls living in the same neighborhood were discovered savagely bludgeoned in a similar attack.

Police identified the dead woman as Mrs. Ruth Norton, 42, an elevator operator in the national bank of Tulsa building

Her body was found lying on the bed of her bedroom, nude from the waist down. The head had been beaten with a heavy, sharp instrument that inflicted deep gashes.

Police Commissioner J. Fred Lawrence jr., and Police Chief J W. (Bud) Hollingsworth termed the murder one of the most brutal the city has ever had.

Earlier Mrs. J. B. Cole, 38, her daughter Doris, 13, and a neighbor girl, Levon Gabbard, 14, who was spending the night with the Coles, were found savagely beaten in their apartment Police said the assailant left the names of two teen age boys in indelible ink on the legs of the girls.

Woman Still Unconscious

TOLEDO —(INS)— Mrs. Wesley W. Vance, 38, of Toledo, entered her 46th day of unconsciousness today following plastic surgery to clear facial injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Doctors at St. Vincent's hospital, where Mrs. Vance is confined, have given up hope for her recovery, according to her husband, but are of the opinion that she may live from two weeks to a year.

Her husband said that she has lost all use of her hands and feet but seems to have a fairly good heart condition The unconscious woman is being fed through a glass tube. She was administered penpothal sodium when she underwent the operation.

Postal Station Reopened In City

Water Fails In Ashland In Mid-Day

City Faces Acute Hazard of Fire

By VIRGINIA LEED

ASHLAND—Ashland faced the worst fire hazard of its history Thursday afternoon when the city was almost entirely without water service for several hours. Some of the shutoff extended through the evening in some sections.

The water shutdown occurred shortly after the pumps were turned off at the pumping station to allow workmen to clean out the filter beds.

The pumps are turned off briefly every day for this purpose but Thursday there was insufficient water in the standpipe to supply consumers until the, pumps could get back into operation, waterworks officials explained.

Fire Chief Paul Soles almost literally tore his hair out during the afternoon hours while hundreds of calls poured into the waterworks department and police and fire stations demanding to know the cause of the water shutoff.

"The city was lucky that there were no fires during the afternoon," Chief Soles said.

'I TOLD YOU SO'

The situation had its "I-told-you-so" aspects. The $300,000 Ashland waterworks improvement project is just now getting into operation with many months or perhaps a year of waiting until adequate facilities can be furnished this fast-growing city.

The south half of the city suffered the worst during the shutoff, which occurred shortly after the lunch hour. Most of this section of town was entirely without water. In the downtown area there was a slight trickle and the northern half of the city had a small amount of pressure.

The shutoff in the southern part of town caught most housewives either washing lunch dishes or preparing to do so, while some others were in the midst of shampoos, with no advance warning, all were caught without any available water except what could be obtained from a few private wells in the area.

Workmen at the waterworks pumping station said the flood of calls from this section of town was incessant.

Bellville School Head Resigns

BELLVILLE—At a meeting of the Bellville village board of education last night, Supt. D. D. Rummell submitted his resignation, effective July 31.

Rummel, who has been superintendent of schools here for seven years, has accepted a similar position at McConnellsville-Malta schools.

Mrs. K. M. Willson, president of the board, announced that the final plans for the proposed new school building were accepted and bids will be accepted very soon.

Police Hold Two Bikes For Owners

Two bicycles were held by police today for identification by the owners.

Joe Wagenhals, 386 Barnes avenue, reported finding a bike in a field near his home shortly after noon yesterday. At 5:30 p. m., Kenneth Armore, 147 East First street, reported he found a bike parked near his home.

A third bicycle, reported stolen from the garage of William Van Riper, 735 Springmill street Wednesday night, was recovered yesterday by the family.

Youth Injured In Car, Bicycle Crash

William Trisler, 17, of 964 Averill avenue, suffered lacerations of the left knee about 5:30 p. m. yesterday when his bicycle collided with a car driven by Harvie C. Willsey, 31, of 509 Parkview street.

Police said the mishap occurred at Library court and North Weldon avenue. Trisler was treated at General hospital and released.

Highway Department Takes Traffic Count In City

Eleven traffic checkers for the state highway department in Columbus aroused Mansfielders' curiosity yesterday as they sat at major intersections punching buttons on tabulator boards.

The men were so busy counting vehicles that they didn't have time to answer the questions of onlookers.

W. A. Martin, supervisor of traffic of the planning and survey division of the Bureau of Location and Design at Columbus, said the check here was part of a routine survey throughout the state.

Traffic was counted at each of the major intersections with the count classified as to type of vehicle, (passenger car, semi-trailer truck or small truck) and as to direction of approach to the intersection.

Martin said the crew was under the direction of Carl Melvin, of Columbus, and was composed of college students on summer vacations. Surveys will be made during the summer, throughout the state, he said.

Showery Week End Forecast

A warm and showery holiday week end was seen today by the weatherman.

The rain is expected to fall only in scattered showers and not interfere too much with holiday plans

Weatherman C. G. Andrus at Cleveland said the cool spell is almost ended and that it would be warm and fairly humid Saturday and Sunday

"The elements probably will put on a few fireworks displays in scattered localities," Andrus said. "It looks like we will have a few late afternoon thundershowers Saturday and Sunday."

Ohio had a chilly Thursday night, with the mercury dropping to as low as 45 degrees at Zanesville and to 47 at East Liverpool.

The weather bureau's five-day outlook for Ohio follows:

Temperatures will average about five degrees above normal during the period. Cooler late Sunday and Monday; warmer Wednesday. Scattered thundershowers Sunday and probably again Wednesday, with total rainfall one-quarter to one-half inch

400 Autos Show Defects

Nearly 400 vehicles checked yesterday in the Ashland area by the state highway patrol showed mechanical defects, patrolmen said.

A total of 1,500 autos and trucks were stopped by patrolmen who checked headlights, horns, windshield wipers, brakes, tires, steering gear and lights.

Autos found to be in correct working order were provided with windshield stickers while operators of those with defects were advised to have them corrected.

Highway patrolmen said other checks would be made in the vicinity at unannounced times during the next month.

City Names 2 Firemen

Appointment of two new city firemen was announced today by Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison.

The two are Richard P. Theaker, 164 South Adams street, a Westinghouse employe, and Carlton A. Smith, 223 East Luther place. The appointments are effective July 8.

Garrison said the men had not yet been assigned. The two were certified by the civil service commission.

Smith, an employe of Baumberger's garage for more than a year, is a native of Mansfield. He served in the Army Air Force for three years, his last duty being as an aviation cadet.

He is married and has one child.

CONTRACT SIGNED

NEW YORK — (UP) — The United States Rubber company has signed a two-year contract granting 35,000 employes an 11-cent-an-hour wage increase, it was announced today.

Seeks Galion Radio Permit

New Jersey Man Discloses Plan

GALION—Galion may have a radio broadcasting station.

This news was learned today when Mayor H. H. Hartman revealed the contents of a letter received from Homer Akers of Verona, New Jersey. Akers is now in Washington, D. C., attending to the preliminaries of filing an application with the Federal Communications Commission for permission to operate a radio station in Galion.

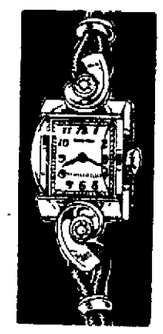

Akers, in his letter, said he will be in Galion between July 6 and July 10 to wind up some details in respect to filing the application.

In Galion, he plans to look into selection of a transmitter site. "A specific plot must be obtained from which we can get aerial photographs taken," he explained, adding that a geology and soil study also must be made to ascertain the conductivity, inductivity and absorption factor of the soil.

Akers, who mentioned that he is a nephew by marriage of C. A. Castle of Galion, added that "we plan to broadcast programs of a civic nature which will render a definite public service to Galion."

New York's Tammany Ignored

O'Dwyer Slights 'Hall' On Appointments

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Mayor O'Dwyer worked today to set up a new Democratic organization in the nation's largest city that he asserted would "leave Tammany Hall down in the gutter where it belongs."

The mayor's denunciation of Tammany was made in city hall yesterday following the appointment of a city marshal.

"It (Tammany) is so decrepit you couldn't rejuvenate it if you tried," O'Dwyer asserted. "We need a new party."

He declared a reorganized party needed decent men who are interested in the welfare of the people, those interested in doing business service. Then he asserted:

"I'll have nothing to do with the scavengers who plan to get rich on the money of widows and orphans."

CHILD OF TAMMANY

O'Dwyer, who was elected to the mayorality with the aid of Tammany Hall in 1945, indicated his strategy in the party reorganization would be to ignore the wigwam in his appointments.

He delivered his first slap at Tammany with the appointment of Martin J. Kennedy as city marshal. Kennedy was selected over the opposition of Eugene McManus, Tammany leader of the 3rd assembly district.

Michael J. Kennedy, brother of the new city marshal, formerly was the leader in the Third district.

"As far as I'm concerned," O'Dwyer said, "Mike Kennedy is the only Democratic leader in the district from now on. We haven't got around to setting up people in other districts yet, but when we do we'll put the right kind of people in."

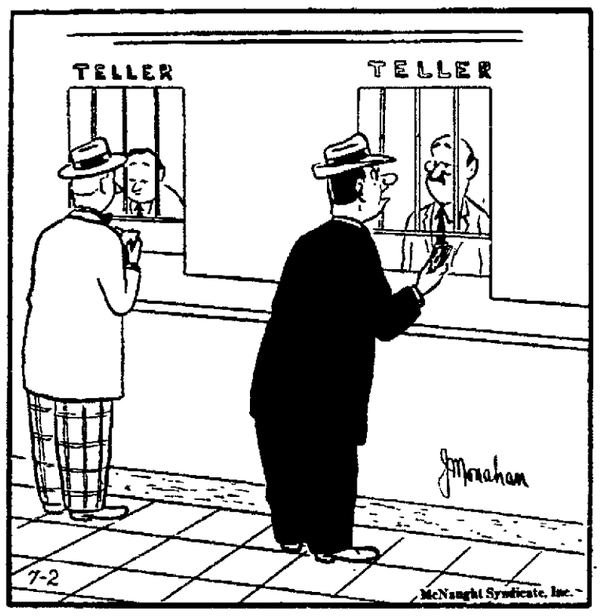

'Y' Swimming Program Set

The YMCA national swimming program begins Friday in the "Y" pool for boys in the Mansfield area, Ralph Chapman, YMCA secretary, announced today.

Instruction will be under the supervision of James Kibler, Chapman said.

"The boys will be divided into sections for advancement which will include fish, flying fish, and sharks before reaching the advanced stage for junior life sav-

New VA Ruling Eliminates Dancing, Bartending Courses

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Certain courses in dancing, bartending and personality development have been dropped from the Veterans administration training program.

Also dropped was the disputed flight training program unless the veteran takes the training in connection with his present or contemplated business or occupation.

The controversial courses, which have been given under the GI bill of rights, were eliminated in accordance with new restrictions set down by Congress.

No funds will be allowed to pay for any courses determined to be avocational or recreational.

Hitherto, the government has paid for such courses.

The Veterans administration said that training determined by VA to be avocational or recreational includes certain courses in dancing, photography, bartending, mixology (the art of mixing drinks), personality development, entertainment, music, sports and athletics.

Before training courses will be approved, the VA said, a veteran must offer "complete justification that such course is in connection with his present or contemplated business or occupation."

Ex-Mansfielder Stricken In West

Funeral services will be conducted in Los Angeles Saturday morning for Mrs. Anna Moser Spitler, former Mansfield resident who died unexpectedly at her home in the California city. She was the widow of Mervin O. Spitler.

She is survived by one son, Leslie, of Los Angeles; two sisters, Mrs. C. A. Buell and Mrs. Carrie Thoma; and two brothers, David Moser and Andrew Heidinger, all of Mansfield.

Reservists Benefit By Pension Law

Amounts Based On Military Pay

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Leroy Johnson (R-Calif.) estimated today that armed forces reservists retiring under a new law will collect pensions of about 20 per cent of their highest military pay.

The law signed Tuesday by President Truman is the result of almost five years of work, Johnson said. He is chairman of the House armed services subcommittee which had charge of the legislation. Rep. Brooks (D-La.) was the sponsor.

The law covers both men and women in the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine corps and Coast Guard reserves, with pensions for officers and enlisted men computed on the same basis.

"We have tried out several hypothetical cases under the plan," Johnson said, "and they all come out at about 20 per cent, a few over and a few under. That is not a bad pension, considering what is required."

Johnson said Congress has received no reliable estimates on how many reservists will qualify for pensions, nor how much the pensions will cost when the law goes into operation.

To collect his—or her—pension, a reservist must be 60 years old, and must have put in 20 "satisfactory" years in active and reserve federal service. A "satisfactory" year is one in which the reservist earns at least 50 points under a formula set up in the law.

USES POINT SYSTEM

It work this way:

The reservist is credited with 15 points per year simply for being in the reserve. Each day on active duty, such as at summer camps, is good for another point. One point is granted for each drill, and another point for each period of duty equivalent to drill—for example, correspondence courses.

A national guardsman, for instance, would get 15 pension credit points for being in the guard, 15 more for two weeks of summer camp, and one more for each of the 48 drill nights in the year. That adds up to 78 points per year, including 63 for duty.

But there is a maximum of 60 points for inactive duty in any one year. Therefore, he is credited with 75 days for that year, although he has a total of 78 points.

When he retires, all of his points will be added up, and the total divided by 360. That will give the number of years of active duty to his credit.

He will then get a pension of two and one half per cent of the base and longevity pay for the highest rank he has held, multiplied by the number of his years of active duty—actual and credited under the point plan.

Men who have been in the reserve for years, some of them going back to World War I, will be given a credit of 50 points for each year of inactive duty on their record, plus full credit for active duty.

The law goes into operation not later than next Jan. 1.

'Get Pentagon Patrol Off Seat of Pants,' Urges Short

WASHINGTON — (U.P. — Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.), said today the Army should go easy in drafting men until it gets the desk soldiers in the "Pentagon patrol off the seat of their pants."

Short, who stands to head the House armed services committee if the Republicans retain control of Congress, said he had visited the Army headquarters building recently and was "amazed at the number of officers sitting around with nothing to do."

"The Army says it needs manpower," he said. "Why don't they give these fellows something to do?"

Short opposed the draft while it was before Congress. He said he was going to keep a close check on the Army's efforts to recruit men voluntarily to satisfy himself that no more men are drafted than is absolutely necessary.

"If they're not in there trying, if they're seeking to junk the voluntary enlistment procedure, I'll yell to the heights and sock 'em at every turn," he said.

Meanwhile, the search for "friends and neighbors" to serve on draft boards was under way again.

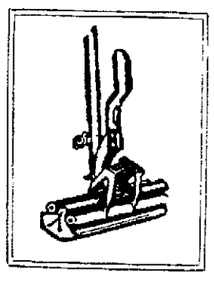

Selective service officials reported that preliminary steps are being taken to recruit draft board members even though President Truman hasn't yet issued the official order setting the newly-authorized selective service machinery in motion.

There have been reports from at least one state that private citizens are balking at taking the payless draft board jobs. The argument these citizens advance is that they stand to lose friends and in some cases cash customers by serving on draft boards.

Setback Seen For Freight Car Output

ODT Director Says Steel Outlook Dark

WASHINGTON— (AP) —The Office of Defense Transportation said today production of new freight cars may be in for another set-back soon

Director J Monroe Johnson said in a statement that three factors are involved:

1. The temporary loss of steel production as a result of cold weather last winter and the coal strike this spring;

2. Failure of the car builders to take all of the higher cost steel made available to them by the steel industry;

3. Failure of some steel producers to accept monthly assignments or deliveries to the car builders as recommended by government-industry groups working on the car shortage problem.

Johnson noted that new car production has been around 9,000 cars monthly since last December as compared with the goal of 10,000 cars a month as set last year However, he said the government-industry conference method for stepping up output has been "reasonably successful," with 97,255 cars put into service. The program had projected an 111,000-car production

Actually, Johnson said, 10,000 cars a month is "much too slow to accomplish rehabilitation and enlargement of the country's freight car fleet."

Prompt Start Made on FCC Probe

DECISION of Rep. Forest A. Harness, chairman of the newly-named select committee of the House of Representatives, to get to work at once on investigation of the Federal Communications commission is another indication of the urgency for such an inquiry.

Harness announced that organizational work of the committee has started and the task of setting up an investigatory staff already is under way. The committee's choice of investigators and legal counsel for the inquiry will be vitally important and is likely to have strong bearing on the extent of the investigation and the degree of its success.

Many trained, long-time observers of governmental operations in Washington have been critical of the Federal Communications commission and its operation. News writers and some officials of government have joined in pointing to the FCC as the sorriest and most mishandled branch of the entire governmental structure.

It will be well for the investigating committee and its staff to keep in mind that while the commission has seven members, the bulk of the board's actual work of allocating broadcasting licenses, controlling ralio policies and supervising the industry generally is delegated to the FCC's staggeringly large staff of lawyers.

During the war and since its end, the volume of material handled by the commission has often been so heavy that commission members themselves could do little more than rubber-stamp the recommendations of their legal aides and advisors.

Thus, to be effective, the investigation of the commission actually must be expanded to take in scores of employes and a vast network of "influence," "connections" and "ins" which in all likelihood extend into many other departments of government, into high-placed political powers and to powerful interests as well.

The committee has a hard summer's work ahead, but a thorough, conscientious job should return dividends that will make it worthwhile to the public. It is the real public interest which is at stake.

Ashland's 'Housecleaning Day'

NOTHING pleases The News-Journal more than to be able to make favorable reference to commendable local activities, creditable action by city and county officials and progressive endeavors of various civic, religious and fraternal organizations and groups.

And nothing is more distasteful than to deem it advisable to make adversely critical editorial reference to some of the things in which this city falls short of what might reasonably be expected of officials and organizations which are looked to for initiative in leadership.

In this instance specific reference is made to Mansfield's total failure during the past spring season to carry through anything in the way of a city-wide clean-up, such as had been an annual practice for many years.

Not only attractiveness of surroundings, but health and safety from fire, are recognized factors in observance of a municipal clean-up week, and the variety of excuses offered for local inaction this year are not convincing.

Yesterday's article on the success of neighboring Ashland's Downtown Housecleaning day—sponsored by that city's Chamber of Commerce, and with the interested co-operation of store proprietors and employes—gives an idea of what can be done along that line when such a movement has leadership and direction.

An interesting phase of the recital of Ashland's clean-up was the reference made to belief that "it would go far in eliminating the rat problem in the downtown section"—which may offer a suggestion to Mansfield health department authorities and others who are concerned about reducing the rat population in Mansfield's business sections.

That 20% Tax on Safety Deposit Boxes

LOOKING 'em all over, no federal tax seems more nonsensical than the imposition of a 20-per cent penalty on persons whose accumulation of government bonds makes it advisable for them to rent a safety deposit box at a bank.

Local banks note a great increase in calls for use of safety deposit boxes since so many people have been investing in various forms of government bonds, which—it is advised—be kept in a safe place.

Some banks have found it necessary to add deposit boxes to the limit of available space, but still have waiting lists of would-be box renters.

To the usual bank charge for rental of such boxes is added a federal tax of 20 per cent—which may seem like a small item in itself, but which impresses some people as being a petty racket . . . for, if they didn't buy bonds they would have no need for a safety deposit box.

When Free Enterprise Is Throttled

THE PEOPLE of Russia are suffering from the same lack that seemingly besets those of any country in the grip of a government-dominated economy.

The emphasis on capital goods and war material which is imposed by the men in the Kremlin leads to a grievous shortage of everyday articles from hammers to needles. Criticism of this policy has been coming to light lately in the publications Pravda and Izvestia, showing that the government is becoming aware of the gravity of the situation. The people are urged by the newspapers to fight stubbornly for the production of consumer goods.

A common fault of the government-operated economy is failure to cope with the everyday problems of the people. Government planning was set up with the idea of solving just such problems, but there seems to be a hitch somewhere. It could be that the whole theory is unworkable, and that only in the hurly-burly of a free-enterprise system is it possible to have the most prosperity for the most people.

How Warren's Nomination Came About

THE nomination of Earl Warren was the outcome of 12 hours of intense negotiation, consultation and cogitation. No one knew, except perhaps Warren himself, whether the California governor would accept second place on the ticket.

Warren is slow to make a decision and is, moreover, scrupulous about his obligations to California. Hence, the question was not merely to bring about agreement on a candidate among the various factions. It also involved winning the consent of Warren himself. Dewey was the central figure in both proceedings.

As is generally known, Warren was Dewey's first choice in 1944. When Warren reached Chicago in that convention, he was greeted by emissaries of Dewey, who attempted to win his consent to run for the vice presidency.

The inducements were: first, to make the job tolerable on the material side and, second, to make it more active and interesting. Dewey suggested that he was not the man to let a person of Warren's administrative capacities rust in the vice-president's chair in the Senate.

* * *

Hours of Discussion

THE effort to reach unanimous agreement on a candidate began soon after Dewey's acceptance speech Thursday night. After his return to his rooms in the Bellevue-Stratford around midnight, Dewey summoned representatives of the unsuccessful candidates, together with other influential people.

There was no direct representative of Warren present. But the man there who knew most about Warren was Kyle Palmer, veteran political writer of the Los Angeles Times.

Throughout the proceedings which ended in the nomination Friday, Palmer was a major figure. He had the full confidence of both Dewey and Warren, although he represented neither.

But Palmer was in a position to say positively that, although Warren was not a candidate he would allow his name to go before the convention—if that were the wish of Dewey and if it meant the approval of the party leaders.

The conference in Dewey's rooms lasted until after 4 o'clock in the morning. Intense concentration prevailed, with Dewey acting not only as moderator but as chief questioner.

One name after another was suggested, discussed and eliminated. Palmer was the chief source of information about the California governor and, according to those present, his lucid and objective description convinced the conferees that they had found their man.

Then, at 4:30 a. m. Warren was awakened and invited to come to Dewey's headquarters. No offer of the nomination was made, but Dewey thoroughly explored Warren's reasons for hesitating to take the job. Finally, without any commitment on either side, the situation was clarified.

At 9:30 a. m. the conferees met again, without Warren, and voted their decision. Warren then agreed to run.

Viewing the National Scene

Another 'Stop' Attempt

By THOMAS L. STOKES

IT SEEMS now that the chief entertainment in the preliminaries next week before the Democratic national convention opens in Philadelphia will be one of those "stop" movements that occupied the Republican convention briefly before it fizzled out.

This, of course, will be a stop-Truman performance.

It is, interestingly enough, the failure of the stop-Dewey maneuver that has given new hope to the stop-Truman crowd.

The Dewey-Warren ticket, it is generally agreed, is about the strongest that the Republicans could have picked. Such a ticket, the anti-Truman people now argue, emphasizes the need of another and stronger candidate for the Democrats.

So, for a few brief days at Philadelphia, we'll see the huddles of anti-Trumanites, the issuance of statements filled with high hopes and optimistic claims and then it will all blow up.

The job of the stop-Truman crowd is literally herculean compared to that of the stop-Dewey crowd. Where the stop-Dewey forces had a whole bevy of candidates — too many, in fact — the anti-Truman contingent has none that it can count upon.

The stop-Dewey drive collapsed, as so many such "stop" movements have wilted in the past, because of too many prima donnas. But the stop-Truman campaign lacks even one prima donna. Nobody courts this role, that is, nobody who could satisfy enough delegates and pull together the dissident elements of the badly mangled Democratic party.

It is the schism in the party that raises the chief obstacle to the stop-Truman group. The latter necessarily is made up of so many irreconciliable elements which could never get together on a candidate who otherwise might be available.

* * *

Widely Varied Thinking.

THERE is the old New Deal element now organized in Americans for Democratic Action, ADA, and embodying CIO support and some smattering of AFL labor. There is the bloc of southern revolters, extremely conservative and anti-New Deal and anti-labor for the most part, which was moved to rebellion by President Truman's civil rights program which they abhor and which the ADA crowd is supporting strongly.

Then there is the big city machine element represented so far chiefly and publicly in Jake Arvey, the new Democratic boss of Cook and Chicago, with which New Dealers have joined forces before, strange as that alliance always seemed, but which has little in common with the southerners.

All the otherwise dissident elements probably could agree on General Dwight D. Eisenhower—for varying reasons and for no one particular reason except that the polls show he could win against any Republican combination. But Ike is having none of this, he has made quite clear.

The real candidate of the ADA-CIO alliance is Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court. Mr. Henderson points out that the justice has raised no bar against the campaign for himself.

How well the justice, an ardent New Dealer in the Roosevelt administration, would suit the southerners is quite a big question. He is for the civil rights program, and his views on social and economic welfare measures do not comport with the standard southern conservative viewpoint.

After the usual amount of smoke at anti-Truman conferences you may expect to see Harry Truman nominated. There is no easy way of salvation for the Democratic party, such as a new face on the campaign posters. It seems destined for the hard road of defeat and slow rebuilding.

Committee Divides on Truman Support

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Despite optimistic statements by Democratic Chairman Howard McGrath, the Democratic national committee has begun to fall apart at the seams. McGrath is trying desperately to hold it together behind President Truman — but it isn't holding.

One national committeeman, Eugene Mahoney of Sioux Falls, S. D., has written McGrath a letter urging him to conduct an honest poll of the grass roots before trying to nominate Truman.

"As I understand it, it is not the duty of the national committee to at all costs endeavor to bring about the nomination of President Truman," wrote Mahoney. "It is the duty and responsibility of the national committee to lead the Democratic party to victory and to take the leadership in bringing about the nomination of a candidate who can win.

"I would suggest," continued the South Dakota national committeeman, "that you as chairman of the Democratic party make a very comprehensive survey of the nation, and let the results of that survey guide you in your course of action. I would also suggest that that survey not be confined to a few political leaders, but that you actually make a grass-root survey as was only done by Jim Farley in 1932.

"No doubt," Mahoney concluded, "if President Truman knew the true situation, he would step aside and withdraw to aid and assist in the selection of a candidate who could and would win."

* * *

Inside Yugoslavia.

ONE clue as to what's happening inside Yugoslavia is a speech Marshal Tito made at a secret meeting of the Oblasni Egzekutivni Odbor (Red executive board) at Zagreb a short tilme ago. Speaking to his fellow communist leaders, Tito was extremely frank in admitting trouble inside Yugoslavia. Here is a translation of one part of his speech:

"Comrades, you know very well that the peasant is not with us. This was made quite evident with the state's purchase of grain surpluses. The plan was a failure, as less than 50 per cent of the fixed quantity was delivered by the peasants. The peasant is cunning and refractory and his belief in gods and priests cannot easily be driven out of his mind. Because of that, we have had many difficulties and trouble.

"I will not indulge now in matters of religion, but if some day the priests rouse the people by ringing the churches' bells, it is certain that we shall have to face a complete uprisal. And the peasants are well armed.

"On account of all that, I have issued all necessary orders and instructions. We need time for a complete success. Therefore, get to work and work hard, as there is not much time left. I wish you, comrades, much luck and full success!"

Note—It may have been that Moscow, because of internal troubles in Yugoslavia, decided to junk Tito.

* * *

Special Congress?

SOME White House advisers are strongly urging the President to call Congress back for a special session immediately after the Democratic convention.

They tell Truman that he should insist on the enactment of major legislation, such as the Taft-Ellender-Wagner public housing bill, which, though blocked in Congress, was indorsed in the GOP convention platform.

Friends tell Truman that if GOP leaders continue to block housing during the special session, he could then charge them with failure to carry out platform pledges.

Other advisers, however, have told Truman that it would be wiser politically not to call a special session, but to let these Republicans stew in the juice of their congressional mistakes.

Since the President plans to make Congress his No. 1 campaign issue if renominated, the latter is probably what he will do.

* * *

Under the Dome.

A. F. OF L. President William Green was even hotter against the Republicans in his private talk to President Truman than when he issued his blast later. "The Republicans," Green told Truman, "ignored us at Philadelphia. There was nothing favorable to labor in the platform. We didn't have a look-in." . . . J. D. Parker, the North Carolina wine-maker, indicted for income-tax evasion, has entered a Virginia mental institution—some people think to get out of a very tight fix. But while supposed to be sick, Parker has been seen on the streets of Raleigh—so the justice department will prosecute anyway . . . Negotiations between London and Washington for Britain's participation in the Marshall Plan are stymied. The British accuse us of trying to regulate the pound sterling in return for Marshall Plan aid. For two weeks diplomats haven't been able to break the deadlock.

Spaatz Speaks.

ONE reason Air Chief of Staff "Tooey" Spaatz retired from the Army was that he felt he could do the Air Force more good on the outside. For the first time, he is now preparing to speak his mind fearlessly in a flood of magazine and newspaper articles.

Unhampered by military restrictions, Spaatz will tell bluntly how he thinks America should meet the threat of another war. He will also warn that the United States will have two independent air forces on its hands as long as the Navy is given free rein in the air.

Tito, Big Shot Mobster

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Over-simplification of important world events is, of course, the besetting sin of some of us characters who belabor a typewriter to earn our daily bread—causing us to be sneered at by people of vast background and complicated vision.

Nevertheless, the recent Moscow purging of Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito is reminiscent of nothing quite so much as some of the gang war developments during this country's prohibition period.

And it is going to be interesting to watch the stutterings, the recantations and the explanations of the big party-line commies and the little red front fools—who now must attempt simultaneously to purify themselves and still continue to glorify the party.

No easy task, that!

In the days when bootlegging was a billion-dollar business, things were much the same. Some of our best people were involved, at least to the extent of illegally buying the stuff. To say that it was a bad law is no more excuse than to say today that communism couldn't flourish if the world weren't in such lousy condition.

In any case, here you have an example of an east-side mobster who has been getting to be more and more of a big shot among the boys. Smart, ruthless and a good trigger-man, he moved into his territory when things were pretty chaotic, as far as law and order was concerned.

Using one of the oldest tricks in the business, he even played along with the law—or rather let it help him eliminate the old mob which had been running the territory.

* * *

Lesser of Two Evils.

OF COURSE, the law (in this case, the Allies) knew this guy Tito, alias Josip Broz, already had a police record, so to speak, but the Hitler mob was the big menace of the moment, and anybody who would pack a rod for the riot squad was accepted without question.

Then Broz took over, according to orders from headquarters. First he dispensed with the cops, either by peace assurances or by going over their heads to their superiors with power-politics bribes.

Then he eliminated the opposition, framing them with phoney raps (as in Mikhailovitch's case) setting them up for fake suicides or—when it became necessary—just taking them for a ride.

In short, he really got that Yugoslav territory organized, and there were whispers around the Moscow mob that this tough lad from the Balkans might take over when the big boy kicked the bucket.

Ranking commies went out of their way to be kind to him, and the little guys in the racket figured it was smart to say, gratuitously, from time to time, "Now, as Tito said the other day—"

To be one of the Broz boys put you on the inside track.

Then something happened. Maybe the old man in Moscow figured that Broz was getting too big for his britches.

There were rumors that he was figuring on taking over the Balkan business for himself, even muscling into the Greek territory without orders from the top.

Also, there was talk that he had been seen around the district attorney's office (Secretary Marshall to you) and might be going to turn state's evidence in a big clean-up campaign.

Whatever the cause, the word went out that Tito was on the spot, and every mobster immediately got the jitters.

A few have elected to stick with him and shoot it out, if necessary, but most of the small-fry are running around frantically insisting that they hardly knew the guy—and besides, they always thought he was a punk anyway.

The frightened faithful, the world over, are swallowing and insisting that if Moscow says he ought to be purged, why then, by golly there must be good reason for it, and certainly he should be purged. And for months to come, they'll mind their manners and not speak out of turn.

Timely Editorial

Ball Players' Example.

President Ford Frick is trying to curb profanity and other forms of crude behavior among National league baseball players. The United Press, reporting that Frick "made a recent tour of National league cities and was appalled by the breach of good conduct exhibited by many players," seems slightly amused by it all.

"Etiquette is a wonderful thing and certainly has its place," says the UP. "Its place, however, isn't in a baseball dugout."

If "etiquette" is conduct which sets a good example for ball players' youthful admirers, behavior which never gives a man reason to regret taking his wife or daughter to the ball park, we must cast our vote for Frick and against the United Press. We believe, as Frick does, that a ball player who is not naturally a gentleman should be forced, by threat of fine or suspension, to act as much like one as possible.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Sowing Wild Oats."

The allusion to youthful folly as "sowing wild oats" is a metaphor old in English speech and literature. However, when it comes to finding some specific practice or circumstance in agriculture which it is to be attributed, it is not easy to authentically track down the start of the expression.

There are old references to "wild oats" as a weed or kind of grass indigenous to the British Isles. This is supposed to have resembled the cultivated oat, to be the wild original of it.

The phrase is found recorded in English literature as early as 1576 in a play called "Lennie's Complex."

Farmer's Diary

Friendly Summer Sky

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THERE is a vast strange friendliness to the summer sky, that shifts majestic scenery over the earthy stage where we live out our little lives. Our hill-rimmed Honey Creek valley gets its full share of this natural magnificence.

There are days when the hilltop elms, the oaks and the beeches etch themselves against a deep clear blue. There are days when gray clouds hide the tops of the highest green hills. Sometimes there are quietly formed cloud castles with turrets and towers that change quickly to dark thunderheads and move mutteringly southward or northward. We have been fortunate, here, that no really bad storm has come our way for many years. The protecting hills catch the brunt of most cloud disturbances.

To study the clouds might make a lifetime employment—and profitably so. The least schoolboy knows more about cloud forms nowadays, I think, than we did when I went to school.

He watches the soaring buzzards or eagles and knows they are loafing along atop rising currents of warmer air. He speaks familiarly of "cloud ceilings" and of "air pockets." Yet he still enjoys the fantasy of his own imagination—"Look, Daddy—there's a three-layer Christmas cake with a star for a candle!"

From the grass under our maples we watched the sunset—the three younger boys and I. Black thunder clouds were broken into long fringes, that scattered rainbow colors all around. The glory of the sun seethed and boiled and spurted before gently, silently dying away, taking its shimmering rainbows with it behind the hills.

And then, across the amber sky went a long dark gondola cloud, with a robed gondolier at the rear, his gentle face so clearly cut that the children wondered if he did not live up there somewhere and steer the clouds just for the fun of it.

He steered his big boat over the far horizon, and three sleepy boys and their Dad counted a hundred fireflies above the wheat field, then went indoors to bed.

FBI Celebrates 24th Birthday

Fingerprint Cards Number 109,000,000

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The FBI's identification division Thursday celebrated its 24th birthday by noting some staggering statistics on the fingerprints it has collected during its lifetime.

The division now has more than 109,000,000 sets of fingerprint cards in its files.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover commented that these cards would make 163 separate stacks each as high as the 555-foot Washington monument. Or, placed edge to edge, would extend halfway around the world—with enough left over to form a path from Boston to Miami.

The nucleus of the collection was 810,188 arrest records obtained from the International Association of Chiefs of Police and from Leavenworth penitentiary when the identification division was established July 1, 1924.

The FBI noted that the files "perform many valuable social services" other than law enforcement work.

Hoover said that 21 of the victims of the airliner crash near Mount Carmel, Pa., on June 17 were identified through fingerprint impressions on file with the FBI. Nine had prints in the records in connection with military service; six had been applicants for employment in national defense industries or civil service. One had been fingerprinted as an airline employe. In two cases, the identifications were made with fingerprint cards submitted by local police in connection with applications for pistol and driver's permits.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Pampered Farmers

If the folks in our town were less tolerant, they'd be really burned up over that nationally circulated article on "pampered farmers," describing them as living off the fat of the land.

From where I sit the farmer is anything but "pampered." If he's better off today than twenty years ago it's because he's worked hard to improve the quality and quantity of his production.

Take Bert Childers, for example. Bert is up at four in the morning, to get the milking finished—and ploughing or harvesting, depending on the season, until sundown. In the evening he finally relaxes with the missus over a moderate glass of beer.

And the farmer today's not only temperate in his habits, like Bert's evening glass of beer ... but tolerant in his opinions. So he'll probably say of that article, "somebody got the facts wrong," and just let it go at that.

Four-Power Rule Ended

BERLIN —(U.P.)— The last symbol of four-power unity in Germany disappeared yesterday as the Russians smashed the allied Kommandatura which has ruled Berlin with announcement that Soviet delegates no longer will attend its meetings.

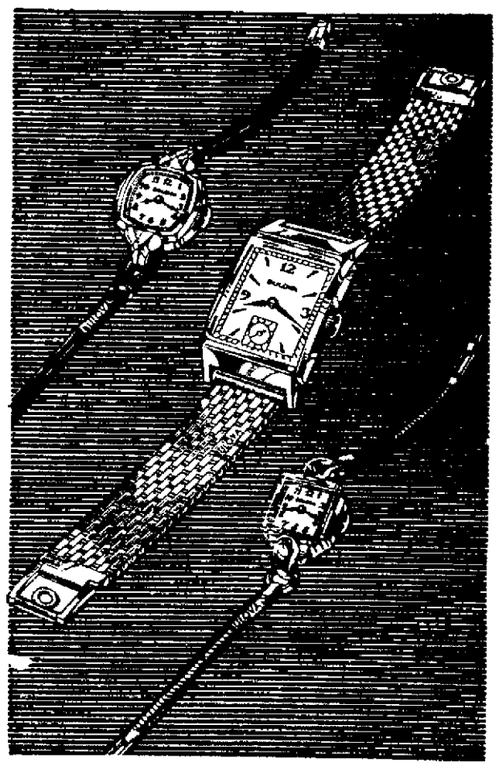

The Russian action, crisply announced at a Kommandatura meeting by Col. Boris Kalinin, the Soviet chief of staff here, appeared to kill the four-power authority for the city of Berlin just as dead as the Russians killed the allied control council for all Germany by their walkout last March.

But simultaneously with the new Russian emphasis of the break between Russia and the western powers, Soviet authorities gave a hint that the starvation blockade of the western sectors of the German capital might be lifted or eased soon.

During the middle ages only sovereigns and princes were permitted to wear red.

ANNOUNCEMENT is being made of the marriage of Miss Mary Lou Miletello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miletello, 112 Chester avenue, and Harry R. Wortman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wortman, Hamden, O. Nuptial vows were exchanged June 26 at 10 a. m. in the rectory of St. Peter's Catholic church.

MRS. H. R. WORTMAN

Rev. Richard Morman officiated for the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

For her wedding Miss Miletello wore a white taffeta gown with full net skirt. The dress was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and her fingertip length veil was held in place with a net tiara. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls. She carried a bouquet of roses, carnations and baby's breath, tied with white satin streamers.

Miss Patricia Miletello, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, attired in a yellow net gown, made similar to the bride's. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, carnations and blue delphinium, tied with green satin streamers.

Mrs. Miletello wore a navy blue frock and a corsage of pink rosebuds for her daughter's wedding.

Frank Miletello was best man for his future brother-in-law.

Following the nuptials a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 40 guests.

The newlyweds are now at home on the Olivesburg road.

The bride attended St. Peter's high school and Mr. Wortman graduated from Hamden high school. He is employed at the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Guests for the ceremony were in attendance from Dayton and Pennsylvania.

PINOCHLE CLUB

Mrs. J. W. Callender, South Adams street, was hostess Thursday evening to members of the Jolly Nine Pinochle club. Two tables were in play with prizes won by Mrs. Jack Brandt and Mrs. Virgil Frontz. At a late hour refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held July 15 at the home of Mrs R H McGregor, 205 South Franklin avenue.

Bride-Elect Feted With Kitchen Party

The home of Miss Kay Caughman, 283 Lexington avenue, was the scene of a kitchen shower given recently in honor of Miss Dorothy Arlin. Miss Marilyn Larson and Mrs. Eugene Gump were the associate hostesses for the nine guests in attendance.

The evening was spent hemming towels and making a recipe book for the honoree

A bread box filled with plants was the centerpiece of the table. On each side were jello molds with white candles and ivy around them. The color scheme was carried out in red and white.

Miss Arlin is the bride-elect of Howard A Hershey. They will exchange wedding vows July 17 at 4:30 o'clock before the altar of the Central Methodist church with the Rev. J Frank Stewart officiating.

New Chapter Formed Here

Thirty-two men were initiated into the Alpha Alpha Iota chapter of Phi Sigma Chi fraternity at the Richland Recreation Center. The event also marked the installation of that chapter, the second in Mansfield.

The installation of the newly-formed chapter, along with the initiation of all its members into the fraternity was made jointly by members of the Alpha Sigma chapter of Newark and the Alpha Alpha Chi chapter of Greenville, Ohio.

Following the afternoon ceremonies an installation banquet was held followed by addresses by Jack Davis, president of the new chapter, and Roger Mossman, vice-president of the national Phi Sigma Chi fraternity.

Dancing followed to the music of Ken Brague and his orchestra.

Other officers installed to head the new chapter were George Warner, vice-president; Jim Hawk, recording secretary; Howard Bell, corresponding secretary; Pat Malone, treasurer; Aaron Davis, historian; and Ralph Lomax jr., chaplain.

The organization has plans for coming social events and has several proposed civic projects.

This attractive combination bed-playroom would be a delightful setting for any little girl. The yellow leatherette headboard furnishes a striking note of contrast to the cocoa brown walls and floor covering. Bedspread, pillow sham and draperies are made of easy-to-care-for-seersucker—white ground with yellow stripes and clusters of daisies. Mattress, spring and pillow are of good, firm construction so necessary to the proper support of a growing child.

Wallace's Gailmor Shows Skill In Wheedling Money From People

NEW YORK—Wherever Bubblehead Wallace went in his sordid masquerade as a friend of the common man, the town reporters wrote frisky descriptions of the tailboard clowning of William S. Gailmor, the thief who wheedled the money out of the crowds. The fact that this gaping Mortimer Snerd, who was vice president of the United States for four years, selected a notorious thief to handle the loot for him and his party, is a reliable measure of his mental balance.

The citizens may never learn what vastly greater lunacies he committed when he was not only vice president but chairman of the board of economic welfare by Roosevelt's appointment.

In that position, armed with special powers and protected by an iron curtain of "security," he had a billion to squander and the power to ship to the household gods of his spiritual home the secret yeast which makes the atom bomb go boom and all the plans and formulae that other agents of the government couldn't keep out of his hands.

★

He once told me that there was nothing he would not do to help Russia, and on that basis we may take it that whatever Wallace had access to, Stalin has now. Agents of Congress have found evidence of Henry's generosity to Russia, but they have learned also that he had the mumbling cunning of a town butt and managed to conceal fact in well-designed confusion. We may never know all that he did or what happened to the money.

The false character of a compassionate and utterly generous mahatma, with insinuations of divinity that has been painted on Wallace by a few Dreary Washington God-seekers of the corps of press club pundits, is an alarming reproach to the publishers who let such fools run wild.

There are not ten journalists in the whole capital whose writing deserves the recognition of the byline, and none of the Wallace cult, living or dead, ever was among those few. Yet, by repetition of their proposition that here was a saintly ascetic, they blew this bang-shaker full of the same gas that so expanded Hitler that he blotted out the God of Christianity, the sun, moon and stars, and reason itself.

It is an affront to intelligence to ask us to believe that Wallace did not know he had a thief for a tub-thumper at his rallies.

But we can grant that Gailmor either muscled into the troupe to do the best he could for himself or that the communists put him there knowing his indifference to the inhibitions of honesty and his incapacity for shame.

In either case, the communists, having unshakable suspicions of one another in all fiduciary matters, undoubtedly watched him during the count-up and frisked him for forgotten jack.

★

Henry Love, in the San Diego Union, gave an excellent description of Gailmor's work on tour with Wallace.

"Evangelistic methods were used by William Gailmor, Wallace's New York fund-raising specialist," Mr. Love wrote. "The total of collections was not announced immediately. At the climax of his talk, Gailmor asked the audience to take out $1 bills.

"'Don't give them to the ushers,' he said. 'We want a demonstration here tonight. Stand up and wave the bills. We want a picture of the people giving in mass support. Wave the bills! Now, ushers, get those!'"

Walter Winchell

Songs, Along With a Dash of Luck, Often Bring Artists Sudden Fame

RECORDED LOVE LETTERS—Once a singer (or instrumentalist) had to be seen before he could be heard. But in this jazzed-up, mechanical era everything gets the reverse twist. Many a star has become a household name to millions of people who haven't the slightest idea what the new "heavenly body" looks like. . . . One hit record—and a singer has built that better mouth-trap which starts booking agents beating a path to his or her door. Here's what we mean.

★

Six months ago singer Jerry Wayne was a star in total eclipse. But one night (at the Cafe Rouge) Frankie Carle told him about an old Viennese melody that his publishing house bought and which Chicago organist Ken Griffin had pressed for ice and roller skating rinks. Carle asked Wayne if he would, as a favor, sing a lyric to the organ record as accompaniment so they could issue a new vocal waxing. That 4 ayem, in a small Broadway recording studio, Wayne donned earphones and warbled into a mike while the organ record warbled into his ears.

Five weeks later the new Jerry Wayne Rondo record of "You Can't Be True, Dear" was shutting everything else out of the jukes and to date has sold more than 1,500,000 copies.

★

For 25 years Francis Craig wrote songs. For 25 years publishers returned them. Lyricist Kermit Goell (on his way South) stopped in to see Craig. Francis had a pet tune, "Near You," which he showed to Goell, who gave the lyrics a quick twist. But when Craig asked him to publish the tune Kermit (who had a publishing house) politely bowed out. A small record firm named "Bullet" took a chance. Craig made an arrangement of "Near You," using a tricky riff for the opening, and a new star was born.

★

In 1938 the songwriting team of Saul Chaplin and Sammy Cahn were commissioned by Lou Levy to adapt a song ("Bie Mir Bist Du Schoen") from a Hebrew melody originated by Sholem Secunda. Levy (who now owns Leeds Music) was then operating from his hotel bedroom. He persuaded Decca to give a girl trio a contract. One of the sides they waxed was "Bie Mir Bist Du Schoen."

It "made" the Andrews Sisters an overnight sensation, "made" Leeds Music, and "made" Lou Levy enough to marry Maxine Andrews.

★

The King Cole Trio was working in a small Hollywood neighborhood joint for coffee "and." . . . A song they liked was written by Nat Cole, "Straighten Up and Fly Right." One night Johnny Mercer wandered into the spot, heard and liked the tune, and made them an offer to do it for Capitol Records. . . . Cole told Johnny that a small label had already waxed it. Mercer bought the small company and the tune, issued it for Capitol—and the King Cole Trio hit the jackpot.

★

Peggy Lee was just "another" band canary who had warbled with Benny Goodman and a string of others. Then she decided to go back in the one night stands grind. Peggy Lee is married to a musician named David Barbour. They love to fool around with Mexican dialogue. They worked up a couple of chords, added some whacky Mexican dialogue dialect and waxed it for Capitol.

"Manana" by Peggy Lee and Dave Barbour practically became a national menace, and Peggy Lee and Dave are cashing in via a string of nitespot dates coast-to-coast.

Three Listed As Founders Of New Firm

Company Makes Hydraulic Hoists

Howard F. Gorsuch, Anna Gorsuch and Philip Dupre, all of 127 North Weldon avenue, were listed as principal stockholders in the incorporation today of the Hydraulic Rotary-Motor company, the secretary of state in Columbus reported today.

Officials of the new firm said future plans were "indefinite." At present, its hydraulic hoists are being manufactured for the W. A. Riddell corporation, Bucyrus road-grader builders, at the Mt. Vernon Machine and Tool company. Some 15 persons are employed in the operations there.

When asked if the company planned to build a factory in Mansfield, Gorsuch said that was not included in present plans. "We can't expand because we can't get enough steel to keep up with demand," he said.

The Mt. Vernon shop, working only on orders from the Riddell firm, is several months behind in orders due to scarcity of raw materials, he said.

Gorsuch designed the hoist several years ago as an improvement over the conventional piston-type hydraulic motor. During the war, the rotary motor was sought by air corps officials to operate the landing gear on bombing planes.

Although the machine had the advantage of compactness and greater power, Gorsuch said he was unable to find facilities to handle the required volume of production before the war ended.

The machine is manufactured in several sizes, ranging from two by five inches to 12 by 12 inches. The small machine will handle a load of 1,000 pounds while the larger one will easily carry 16 tons.

Dealers Told 'Coal to Stay'

Lawrence A. Knollman, franchise manager of the Williamson Heater company, told Mansfield dealers last night that coal heat is "here to stay." He spoke at a dinner meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"Gas and oil heat will not replace coal heat in our time, our son's time or our grandson's time," because we can speak of coal in trillions of years and we know that another war would use up all our natural supply of gas and oil," Knollman asserted.

He urged all Williamson dealers to use their local newspapers as the principal medium for their advertising.

"The newspaper is the most reasonable form of advertising in the world," he said, "and your ad will reach more homes and persons than on the radio, in magazines or on bilboards."

L. M. Riley, district manager for the Williamson Heater company, presided.

Appliance Prices Raised

Westinghouse Electric corporation today raised prices of its electric homeappliances from 3.3 to 7.1 per cent.

T. J. Newcomb, division sales manager, said retail range prices are up 7.1 per cent, refrigerators 5.7 per cent, water heaters 3.3, and small appliances 4.9.

He said the increases reflected the third round of industry-wide wage increases and accompanying high costs for materials, component parts, fuel and transportation.

New Hospital Head Talks of Career

Doctor's Loan Leads to Job

By NITA BRANSON

Most men choose their careers but Wayne A. Copeland, new superintendent at General hospital, was "high pressured" into his first job as hospital administrator and took it at Warsaw, N. Y., with reluctance.

"But I've loved it every minute since," he said. "I'm glad I took it."

Thursday morning Copeland took over the post which Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud left June 30. He came here from a hospital administrative job at Warsaw he had held for nearly 20 years. It was his second job.

"After I took two years of accounting at the University of Syracuse," he related, "I returned to Warsaw to become general manager of an industrial firm. Then one day officials of the bank there came and asked me if I would take over the management of the hospital.

"The doctor who owned it as a private institution had asked to borrow more money, but the bank had said no unless he got someone who could manage it properly. I was satisfied where I was so I declined. But the bank officials went to see the president of the firm and he practically told me that unless I took the job, I would have none there. So, I took it.

"It's a satisfying job. I feel a part of a unit that helps people walk who haven't been able to and sends people home well who have been ill. It is never routine; there's something new always."

Copeland, at 45, is dynamic and energetic.

Although he hasn't had time to dig into all the corners at the hospital, he likes what he has seen.

"It seems to be a well-managed place and one that gives excellent patient care. What really amazes me is the number of doctors on the staff. The normal rate is about one doctor for every 1,000 of a city's population. But General hospital has 73 active staff members. Mansfield is very fortunate to have such adequate medical care."

AGGRESSIVENESS URGED

"A hospital has to be aggressive in order to meet the new medical needs of today," he continued thoughtfully. "For instance it must keep up with all the new diet therapy, all the penicillin, streptomycin and other such new tests."

Copeland believes thoroughly in early ambulation, a practice which was a "must" at the Warsaw hospital, he said, and one which is generally practiced at General hospital.

"But there must come a day when hospital construction will have to consider this early ambulation," he declared. "Patients who get out of their beds within a day or two and walk up and down the halls will have visitors. Some day there will have to be provision made for special corridors, I suppose, for such patients."

He is thoroughly in accord with Dr. Fonkalsrud's belief that a new maternity wing or section should be built.

"I can see that it's much too crowded in our present obstetrics section," he said. Miss Carrie Beal, supervisor of nurses, agreed. She said yesterday that there were only three vacant beds for mothers, and that if there were more births than that within the next 24 hours, they'd be in a not infrequent "jam."

Copeland, like nearly everyone else who comes to Mansfield, needs a house. The Copelands' 19-year-old son, Wayne Roger, expects soon to enter the naval air corps.

Like most executives, Copeland has hobbies to take him away from the strain of his job.

"I've taken a GI course in radio construction and engineering," he said, indicating an envelope with his latest "lesson."

"I'll build radios for my own pleasure. Then I like fishing, too. We did a lot of trout fishing in New York's streams, but I understand there are no trout streams around here. However, I have heard about Charles Mill lake."

GETS ACQUAINTED—Wayne A. Copeland, new superintendent at General hospital, stops in the maternity ward to inspect the inhalator resuscitator recently purchased for that department. Miss Carrie Beal, supervisor of nurses, explains the working of the new machine.

Death Takes Mrs. Hearold, 86

Mrs. Mattie Hearold, 86, died early last evening at her home on Olivesburg road after a brief illness.

She was born in Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 1, 1862, and came to Mansfield 14 years ago.

Surviving are two grandchildren, Mrs. Andrew Schivinski of Mansfield and Mrs. Louis Price of California, and four great grandchildren.

Services will be held at the Geiger funeral home at 2 p. m. tomorrow with Dr. W. M. Taylor, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home until time of services.

Nephew Officiates At Funeral Rites

Rev. Paul H. Kirkpatrick, pastor of the Methodist church in Middlesex, N. Y., will officiate at the funeral services for John L. McCuen, 63, in the Jones Memorial Saturday at 2 p. m.

Rev. Kirkpatrick is the nephew of Mr. McCuen who died Wednesday at his home, 89 Orchard street. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Oxen Herald 3-Day Morrow Centennial

Mansfielders rubbed their eyes in amazement yesterday afternoon when a cart powered by a yoke of oxen circled Central park. Cowboys and "Indians" accompanied the ox cart.

It was a publicity stunt of the Mt. Gilead Centennial committee which will stage a three-day celebration at the Morrow county village, starting tomorrow.

The 100th anniversary celebration over the holiday week end is expected to be one of the biggest events in Mt. Gilead history.

In Mt. Gilead, Cardington, Marengo, Chesterville, Bloomfield, Fargo and Edison banners flew and antique furniture featured displays today as residents of Morrow county prepared for the celebration.

Morrow countians who fail to produce on demand a ticket to the centennial pageant or fail to wear appropriate costume of centennial cowboy hats, ties, or old-fashioned bonnets will be placed in the town "lock-up" to repent.

400 IN PAGEANT

The celebration will include a centennial pageant Sunday night, promising a cast of 400 persons on a stage 200 feet long in front of the fairground grandstand. The pageant will portray the history of Morrow county.

The pageant will follow the crowning of the centennial queen Ramona Graham, Chesterville high school student, at 8 p. m. Miss Graham will preside over the centennial celebration with her court of eight girls from other villages.

Merchants of Morrow county will sponsor approximately 100 floats in the centennial parade Monday which will be led by state officials at 1:30 p. m.

The centennial celebration recalls that Warren G. Harding, the 29th president of the U. S., was a native of the county, the establishment of the county Feb. 24, 1848, and that the county was located on one of the "Underground Railroad" routes during the Civil war.

The county proudly points out that it provided more men per capita for the Union army than any other northern county during the war.

Plan Music Conference

The board of the Middle-North District of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs has announced plans for the district conference to be held at Loudonville Oct. 27. Members met at the home of Mrs. D. A. Spayde, president, at 31 Greenwood avenue, Wednesday night to discuss the program.

Afternoon and evening sessions of the conference will be held in the Zion Lutheran church in Loudonville. A massed chorus will be one of the features of the evening session. Miss Myrtle Booth, director of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's Glee club, said her group would take part in the chorus.

Mansfield also will be represented by singers from the Mansfield Music Study club, W. M. Garrigus of Ashland, district chairman of choral music, announced the numbers to be sung by the massed chorus.

Representatives from music clubs in Ashland, Bellville, Butler, Loudonville, Mansfield, Perrysville, Upper Sandusky, Willard, and Wooster will attend the conference.

Mrs. Harry Valentine of Cleveland, newly-elected president of the Ohio Federation of Music clubs, talked to the group about federation projects. Special Ohio projects include work among the junior clubs, music in veterans' hospitals, and the Edgar Stillman Kelley scholarship fund. Board members endorsed the plan for the hymn of the month as a project.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Members of his family will gather at the home of Harry V. Henness at 142 Stewart avenue tonight to congratulate him on his 68th birthday. Henness retired last March 1 as an underwriter for the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company with which he had been affiliated for 32 years.

He was born in New York and spent most of his early life in the west. He came to Mansfield from Oskaloosa, Iowa, in 1914 to accept a position as general secretary of the YMCA, a post which he held for the next two years.

Henness is active in Masonic work. He is a 32nd degree Mason and is president of the Scottish Rite. He is treasurer of the Humane Society and a member of the Central Methodist church.

When he is not attending meetings, Henness collects stamps and enjoys talking about his two granddaughters who are his pride and joy.

★

LEAVES FOR OMAHA—

Don Jacobs, manager of the Ohio theater here for more than three years, left yesterday for Omaha, Nebr., to take a job with Ralph Goldberg, owner of nine theaters in that area. Jacobs said he chose the Omaha job because he and Mrs. Jacobs think the climate will improve the health of their six-year-old daughter, Pollyanna. Mrs. Jacobs and Pollyanna will join Jacobs as soon as he finds a place to live. They have made their home here at 319 Vennum avenue.

★

NEEDS 2 PAPERS—

The Mansfield Public library is hoping some careful housewife has saved copies of the Jan. 3 and 4, 1948, issues of The News-Journal and will donate them to the library. Miss Edith Jones, cataloger, discovered that these two issues are missing from the library's file. If you have a copy of either or both of these issues, the library will be glad to get them.

★

IN A HURRY—

When an expert's advice is needed, it's usually needed in a hurry. That's what Mrs. Mabel Cline, Newman school branch librarian, supposes happened to a young mother who was in a terrific hurry for a book on child psychology. Just before closing time, the other night, Mrs. Cline had a call asking if she had a child psychology book. Mrs. Cline said she had. The party said she'd be right over. Almost before Mrs. Cline hung up the receiver the young woman was at the library, got her book and left with no further explanation.

Business Shows Increase

June Clearings Reach New High

Mansfield bank clearings and postal receipts set records during the first half of 1948, reflecting prosperity in the city.

The city's banks cleared $119,613,086 during the six-month period. Total for the first half of last year was $102,257,525.

Bank clearings established a new one-month mark in June when they zoomed to $21,487,924. The June, 1947, total was $17,172,835.

Postal receipts for the six-month period amounted to $285,876, a gain of $31,387 over the corresponding period of 1947.

June, 1948, was the 32nd consecutive month in which Mansfield postal receipts showed an increase over the corresponding month of the previous year.

Postal receipts in June totaled $45,397, an increase of $3,108 over the $42,288 reported in June, 1947.

REVENUE UP $18,067

An increase in postal receipts of $18,067 was shown for the second quarter of 1948 as compared with the same period last year. Total receipts for the second quarter were $143,118.

March was the big month in postal receipts in 1948 with $52,418 as compared with $42,155 in March, 1947.

2 Escapers Surrender

A week of sleeping in corn fields, begging food and hitchhiking ended in the surrender of two Grafton honor camp escapers to Columbus police yesterday.

Both inmates, James Rogers, 21, of Cincinnati, and Charles Hosfeld, 21, of Canton, told their captors: "I'm glad it's over."

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke of the reformatory said the penalty for their escape would be "light." Six months is the maximum additional sentence when escapers surrender. Both will be returned to the reformatory.

Rogers, picked up at a friend's home in Columbus where he and Hosfeld spent the night, told of sleeping in corn fields and begging food for a week. The youths escaped the camp on June 24 when they were detailed to do milking chores at the institution.

Hosfeld telephoned the sheriff's office later that he was willing to surrender "if there will be no shooting." He was apprehended on a street corner.

Hosfield was received on March 19, 1947 from Stark county on charges of burglary and larceny. He is serving one to 15 years. Rogers was received May 27, 1947 from Hamilton county to serve one to 20 years for auto theft.
